POLICY TITLE:
Resolution of Grievances

SUMMARY & PURPOSE:
To provide employees of Baptist Health South Florida (BHSF) with a formal process for resolving job-related issues, complaints or conflicts.

POLICY:
Most issues which arise in the workplace can be resolved through discussion of the concerns among those who are involved. Employees are encouraged, but not required, to initially discuss and attempt to resolve any disputes and/or complaints directly with their immediate leader. Leaders have the responsibility to fairly and fully consider the issues that employees bring to them and make any appropriate adjustments in order to resolve workplace problems.

A grievance process is available to employees whose disputes and/or complaints have not been resolved to the employee's satisfaction by the employee's immediate leader or for employees who choose to directly make use of the formal grievance process. Employees using the formal grievance process must complete, sign and submit the Grievance Form (attached to this policy or available in the HR Department). On the grievance form, the employee should provide a summary of the facts and major issues giving rise to the dispute and/or complaint and the resolution/remedy the employee is requesting. If the employee has tried to resolve the grievance with his/her leader and has been unsuccessful in doing so, the complaint should state why the leader's action did not resolve the issue. Participation in the grievance process does not exempt employees from following Baptist Health policies and procedures, including but not limited to job performance, attendance and conduct. NOTE: Any employment decision made as a result of an incident of workplace violence is disqualified from consideration in the grievance process, and performance evaluations scored overall as 'Fully Meets or Exceeds Expectations' do not qualify for the grievance process described herein.

Employees are responsible for submitting their grievances as soon as the circumstances giving rise to such grievance have occurred and in no event no later than 30 calendar days after the occurrence of the circumstances giving rise to the grievance. Grievances submitted after this timeframe will not be considered.

Employees and Leaders may obtain assistance from and be represented by Human Resources at any stage of the grievance process. Employees who do not feel comfortable discussing their grievance with their immediate leader or who would like assistance in preparing their grievance should request assistance from Human Resources at their entity. If the grievance is escalated to Step 4 – Adjustment Board, the Corporate Director, Employee Relations/Ombudsman will be available to assist the employee in preparing for the Adjustment Board hearing.

Baptist Health employees are not entitled to representation by co-workers, family members or legal counsel during the grievance process.
